County Review Board to Halt Hearings Sept. 8

The Will county board of review will end its public hearings on Sept. 8, it was announced by Edward Liberty, who as chairman of the board of supervisors is also head of the reviewing body.

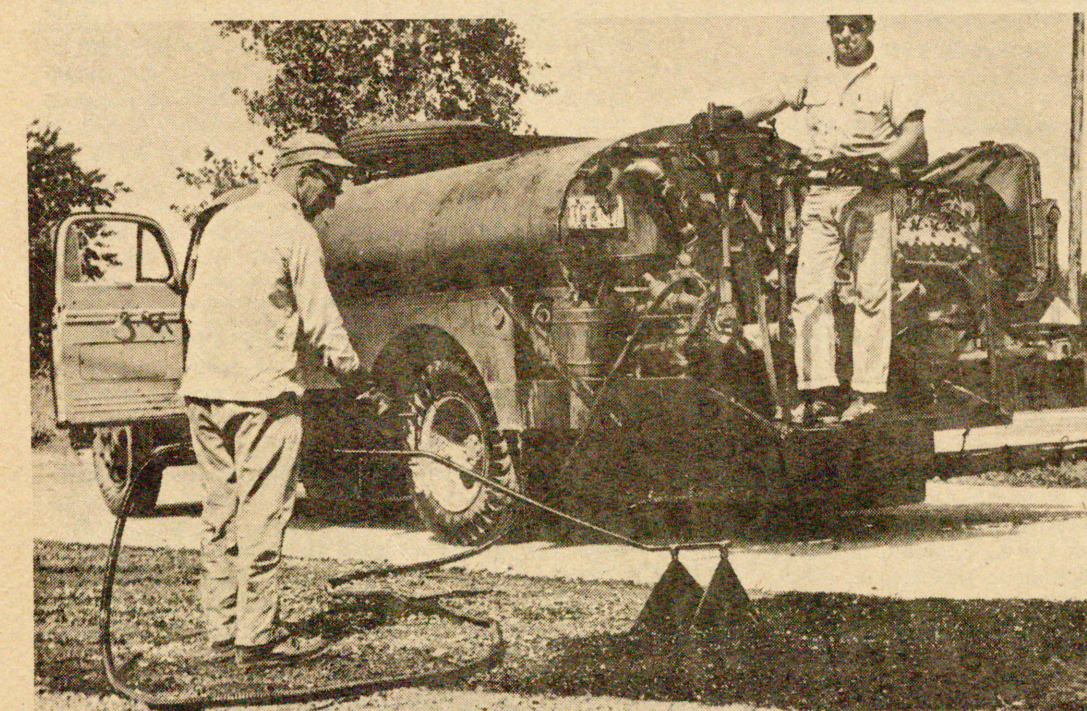

The board of review hears requests from property owners to change the valuations set by the township assessors on their holdings. The requests may cover either real estate or personal property. It really goes without saying that the requests are for a lowering of valuations, altho strange to relate there are rare instances when a person may come before the board of review to ask to have his property--which may not be listed--placed on the tax books or even to ask to pay more.

Requests will not be heard on or after Sept. 10, Mr. Liberty states.

Beginning Sept. 10 and up to Dec. 8 on which date the board of review must close its books, its members will utilize the time to inspect the properties included in the complaints they have been hearing.

When the review board completes its work the books carrying the assessed valuations are turned over to the county clerk's office for the extension of taxes. The extension of taxes is the process in which the rate is set for each taxing body by means of which it hopes to raise the amount of money it has appropriated. Then all these rates are added together to arrive at the total used in figuring tax bills.

HAND OILED--at least this portion of one of Frankfort's streets was receiving such treatment when the photographer was at hand. Usually the oil is sprayed on from the nozzles at the rear of the truck but this method also is used.

Roy LaBerry of Joliet is the one on the truck feeding the oil to the nozzles held by Betzweiser. Frankfort is getting some good streets as a result of the repair program. (Semmler Press photo)

Hospitalized

A 17-year old girl had a narrow escape from death early Tuesday morning when her automobile went out of control and rolled over several times in a field. She was thrown out of the vehicle thru the rear window and lay unconscious for more than an hour, before she recovered sufficiently to get help.

The victim is Fay Grogan, of 716 Ogden road, New Lenox. Investigators from the sheriff's office place the time of the accident about 1:30 a.m. It occurred about seven and a half miles east of New Lenox on the curve near the Buss motel west of Frankfort.

A gasoline station attendant at Frankfort told deputies the girl had stopped to get gasoline sometime after 1 o'clock. Apparently she lost control of the vehicle rounding the curve. The car plunged off the pavement and into a field where it rolled over.

Miss Grogan lay unconscious in the field for more than an hour. When she came too the girl made her way to the highway and tried to flag down a passing truck but failed. Her shoes had been ripped off in the crash and she made her way barefoot to the Buss motel. Someone there called the Baskerville ambulance and Miss Grogan was taken to Silver Cross hospital where she is being held for observation and x-ray examination.

Bandit Invades Frankfort Home; Binds Woman

While Miss Frieda Borms, 74, Walnut street, Frankfort, sat alone in her home Wednesday night a man came in the back door, seized and bound her and tied a cloth over her mouth. He demanded money.

Miss Borms indicated there was money in a paper box on one of the shelves. He opened the box but did not bother to take the few dollars it contained. Miss Borms explained to Frankfort Police Chief Francis Simon later that she never kept any money in the house other than the few dollars needed for her marketing. Apparently the thief was under the impression that he would find a large sum at hand and was uninterested in the amount he found.

It is possible, however that he might have continued the search but it so happened that the police car came cruising by slowly at this time and the bandit took fright and left.

He had left Miss Borms tied up and seated in a dining room chair. When the man was gone she managed to get down on the floor and wriggled her way out of doors. The rope binding her ankles became loose after she had crawled for part of the way to a neighbor's home and she was able to get up and walk the rest of the way.

The hold-up took place a little after 9 o'clock but it was an hour later before the victim was free and had recounted her experience to police. Her assailant was described as somewhere in his late twenties, short, about 5 feet 5 inches and weighed around 135 pounds. He had dark hair.

Miss Borms told Simon that the back door screen was not fastened nor was the kitchen door. She was unaware of the intruder, she said, until she sensed a movement behind her but before she could turn her head the man had seized and wrapped a rope about her. The rope was part of a clothesline that the thief picked up on the premises.

Miss Borms was not injured but she was treated for shock.

New Lenox Youth Dies From Injuries Suffered In Crash

Lawrence Hunt, 20, of 620 Root st., New Lenox, was killed and Jerry Kovar, 32, of 80th ave., Lincoln Estates, was seriously injured as a result of a two-car crash Saturday afternoon on U. S. 30 near Kildare avenue, Matteson.

Both of the victims were taken to St. James hospital, Chicago Heights, where Hunt died at 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

Hunt was a son of Eugene and Mary Hunt. The father is a member of the New Lenox Village board. Kovar is a police-seat and the wheel but police said he managed to extricate himself and crawled out thru a window. Kovar has several broken ribs and possible internal injuries, it was said. Hunt suffered internal hurts from which he could not recover.

Lawrence Hunt was employed by the Rock Island railroad as a clerk in the Blue Island office. He was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Hunt was engaged to Miss Lila McMahon, of New Lenox, and the couple was to have been married this fall. He was graduated from Lincoln-Way high school in 1959.

A coroner's jury was convened at Chicago Heights Monday but the inquest was continued to Sept. 20. By that time it was hoped Kovar would be able to appear.

Besides his parents, Lawrence Hunt is survived by two brothers, Dale and Donald, of New Lenox, and two sisters, Mary Jane, Mrs. Ralph Stegman, and Elizabeth Ann, Mrs. James Bagby, both of Mokena, and numerous aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and cousins.

Removal was to the Baskerville chapel, Roberts rd. and Lincoln highway, New Lenox, where services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Alfred H. Hunter officiating. Interment was in Maplewood cemetery.

LAWRENCE HUNT man, a member of the department at Flossmoor and was on his way to work when the tragedy occurred.

According to Matteson police who were the first at the scene, Kovar was traveling east and Hunt was coming west. The pavement is four lanes wide at this point. Kildare avenue is about half a mile west of the intersection of U. S. 54 and 30.

Apparently Hunt lost control of his car or there was mechanical failure and the vehicle crossed the road to the south side, went off the pavement and struck a speed limit sign and then after sliding along the shoulder went into the east traffic lane, the side of the car hitting Kovar's auto.

The Hunt car then caught on fire but the driver was removed before the flames could reach him.

Kovar was caught between the

Driverless Car Victim To Recover

Seriously injured when he was bounced out of a driverless car 4-year-old Raymond Mallo of 9450 W. 167th street, was reported out of danger Monday night. The youngster is at Little Company of Mary hospital.

Raymond was one of four young members of the Mallo family that remained in the car when their mother, Mrs. Lorraine Mallo, 32, parked at a fruit stand at 141st st. and U. S. 45, Orland Park last Friday.

The car has an automatic drive. Later Mrs. Mallo told Orland Park Police Commissioner Frank Guetter that she couldn't recall whether she had set the emergency brake when she left the car to make some purchases.

The commissioner said that when police arrived the emergency brake was not on and the shift was in neutral.

The car was standing on a slight incline and shortly after Mrs. Mallo got out the vehicle started rolling backward and into busy U. S. 45.

Joseph J. Heisman, 73, of Bristol, Wis., who was driving south on LaGrange road, was somewhat startled to see a driverless car rolling backward across the road and directly at him. Then a couple of the doors opened and he saw some children falling or jumping out. The next instant the driverless car had struck the side of the Heisman car toward the rear. Then the car rolled on, witnesses said, and bounced over a curb. It was there that Raymond fell out. Police believe that one of the wheels ran over the boy.

Raymond had two brothers, Arthur, 9, and Mark, 8, and a sister, Janice, 6 years old, in the car. All escaped hurt and all said they had not touched brake or shift lever, police reported.

Parents Ask School To Provide Transportation

School will open Tuesday, Sept. 4, 1962 at 9:00 a.m. and bus service for the children of Arbury Hills public school Summit Hill District 161, will be available this year, only as long as their parents carry their share of the financial burden placed on the district.

This reply was given by the board of education to a large group of parents visiting the August board meeting. The group had come to request favorable consideration to their plea to continue transportation for the children of the district. A great deal of the discussion of the problem centered around the financial ability of the district to support the program. The school board found it necessary to borrow $1,400 last year to continue service to the end of school in June. A board spokesman declared the board's reluctance to continue a program which necessitated deficit financing. Although the board was sympathetic with the families living over

1 1/2 miles from school, it was pointed out that since this was a common school district, the law did not require the board to furnish transportation for any children, regardless of distance traveled.

A motion was finally agreed upon by the board which authorized Supt. H. James Wrath to set up bus service which would require the minimum expenditure of district educational funds.

A program has been worked out and presented to the people at a meeting Sunday evening. The plan calls for advance monthly payment by the parents to the school for each child transported. The continuation of bus service will depend upon the regularity of these payments.

The board also passed unanimously the formal resolution authorizing publication of the official notice of election Sept. 15th to permit the expenditure of $115,000 to build an addition to the school.

Robert Cagwin who was in the auto accident at Thornton and Rt. 7 last Monday evening, remains critically ill at Silver Cross Hospital. He was home on furlough from the south where he is stationed with the Marines. Harlow Cagwin who was vacationing in Colorado at the time of his brother's accident flew home the following day.

Tragic Box Score

Don't give fire a place to start! That is the advice of the National Fire Protection Association and it should be heeded.

Fire takes a fearful toll each year. The National Fire Protection Association does not quote world statistics but it does not give figures relative to fire in the United States. They are fearsome things.

According to statistics fire takes a toll of 31 lives every day in the nation. . . 1,525 homes. . . 11 churches. . . 11 schools. . . four hospitals. . . 105 factories. . . 149 stores. . . 22 office buildings. . . 203 farm properties.

No figures as to the property loss, in dollars, was given in conjunction with this report but the total must be staggering.

Lightning causes some blazes but relatively few. Most fires can be traced to human error, carelessness or intent.

To change this picture is strictly up to people. It would appear that the only time anyone thinks about the elimination of fire hazards is in the fall when Fire Protection week is observed, and in the spring when an effort is being made to persuade householders to paint-up and clean-up, with special emphases being placed on the clean-up.

Attics, basements, garages and sheds used as storehouses for junk, cartons and paper are prime fire centers. Careless storing of oily rags is another danger. Inadequate wiring is another cause that takes a heavy toll. Smokers who fall asleep start many fires, as do children playing with matches.

Keep homes, business houses, all premises clean. Keep in mind what the National Fire Protection Association advises. Don't give a fire a place to start!

Thoughts On Labor Day

Next Monday the Nation will take a holiday to pay tribute to its working men and women.

One of the primary reasons for the success of this United States has been the skill and energy which every laboring man and woman has expended. Our system was founded on the belief that everyone has a right to receive an honest wage for an honest day's work. As far as we are concerned, no Act of Congress, statement by the Chief Executive or comments from Industry or Labor officials can change that one fact.

There is no question that our Nation has the highest standard of living in the world. There is no question that the stamp, "Made In U. S. A." is the mark of a superior product. In addition, the United States has set a record of production that is still unequalled in the history of mankind.

Unfortunately there are those among us who are not such strong believers in the system which produced this abundance. . . in fact there are men in government, labor organizations and even in industry, who are not yet sold on the American Free Enterprise system.

The benefits which the American Laboring man presently enjoys and fought hard to achieve were not presented to him by the government or by a union or by the industry in which he works, but were rather earned in the battles of collective bargaining, through honest sweat and from a burning desire to make a better way of life under the free enterprise system.

President Dwight Eisenhower said, "American working men are principals in the three-member team of capital, management, labor. Never have they regarded themselves as a servile class that could attain freedom only through destruction of the industrial economy."

The American Laboring man, from the working stiff to an airline pilot, can continue to enjoy the benefits of the present bountiful life that each man enjoys, only if the free enterprise system is allowed to grow and continue along with him.

30 Seconds. Please

The labor Day weekend begins -- for many -- at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, Aug. 31. May we count on seeing you again when the weekend driving is over? It will take you just 30 seconds to read this brief reminder and we hope it may help to bring you back with us on Tuesday.

Some people celebrate holidays by smashing their heads against the windshields of their cars.

To prevent this sort of celebration we'd like to offer a line or two on highway safety.

Time may be precious, but life is priceless.

Don't learn traffic laws by accident.

Always think for two--the other driver and you.

Train your mind to mind the train. One accident can cost you your driver's license. Can you afford a chauffeur?

The life you save may be ours, and even if you are careless with your own, we urge you, on bended knee, please be careful with ours!

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

Among stocks being recommended by analysts, are petroleum producers and refiners with major international sales.

Financial World notes that in the decade 1951 to 1961, petroleum demand in this country increased by about 39 per cent which was somewhat more than the increase in industrial production - 35 per cent. This gain is very much smaller than the 212 per cent increase in petroleum use in Western Europe and 900 per cent for Japan. Per capita use of oil in other parts of the world is still much lower than that of this country.

The five leading international oil companies - Gulf, Socony, California Standard, Jersey Standard, and Texaco received more than half of total profits from foreign activities, in years 1959 thru 1961 and an even greater portion for years prior to 1959.

In the crude production segment of the industry, there is a persistent demand for greater revenue by the poorer countries with crude production. The demands continue to climb.

In any survey of the petroleum industry, the importance of natural gas must be gauged.

The United Gas Improvement Co., of Philadelphia, predicts that gas pipeline and utilities companies, will invest about $1.7 billions in new plants, in 1962. The expansion of construction of pipe lines in 1962, is expected to reach a total of $2 billion.

Industry sources state that gas pipelines would show considerably greater increase in expansion if the rate cases would move thru government agencies at a faster pace.

SOURCES OF ENERGY IN U.S.
Year	Oil	Gas	Coal	Water Power
1920	13.5%	4.2%	78.4%	3.9%
1940	32.4%	11.4%	52.4%	3.8%
1960	44.5%	28.4%	23.1%	4.0%
1961	44.7%	29.2%	22.2%	3.9%
1962	43.8%	29.8%	22.4%	4.0%

Coal has lost much of home heating and commercial heating to oil and gas, but its use in generation of electrical energy is solid. Special high pressure boilers burn the coal as it is blown in as dust from the top. The temperature is very high and residual ash flows out of the furnace to be cooled and crushed for use in making light weight cement products.

These coal fired boilers are located strategically around area consuming power. Although such boilers are expensive, they can be expanded when needed or shut down when not needed.

Use of gas has shown a steady increase in use from near the zero mark in 1920 to almost 30 per cent this year.

In early years, the lack of sufficient supplies of gas in periods of peak loads, acted as a brake on the expansion of the industry. Aside from use in cooking, etc, main use was in home heating. As supplies increased at point of market, hotels, hospitals, etc, could dare to use gas without fear of being unable to secure supplies. Industrial firms found this heat which could be controlled easily, had many virtues over other fuels.

To the utility distributing gas, industrial customers are ideal as they use gas twelve months a year and cost of service, accounting, etc, per dollar of revenue, is lower than that of household sales.

The Upper Room

Let brotherly love continue. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares. (Hebrews 13:1-2.)

Once when mother was preparing our morning meal, we heard an urgent knock at the door. Father opened it, and there stood a stranger in the bitter cold. His white hair and flowing beard denoted great age. His apologetic manner in asking for "a bite to eat" touched my parents' hearts with compassion.

Later, in our breakfast room this man sat with bowed head. This prompted Father to ask him kindly, "Would you like to offer the blessing?"

Quietly, and with deep reverence, the stranger spoke warm words of gratitude to God for guiding him to our home.

His parting words were so full of emotion, we scarcely heard him say, "God bless you."

No greater tribute could be paid the memory of my parents than this -- they lived by the golden rule, loving as Jesus loved.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Golden deeds prompted by Christlike love can make heaven on earth.

On Second Thought

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Finnegan's Tap was a busy place. If a stranger to the neighborhood ever gave it a thought he would probably look on the "Tap" part of the name as a diminutive for taproom. But the initiated knew better. The tap was what one might get if he got out of hand and Finnegan's tap was a fearsome thing, for John Leo Finnegan was a big man, a strong man and when necessary a good man with his fists.

There are those who believe that the Clancy of the song whose propensity for boom lowering brought him fame and name is really Finnegan but if he isn't then they would like to see the two of them get together for a go.

As for being busy, well, Finnegan's saloon was always busy even in the morning hours because there were quite a number of men in the neighborhood who worked nights and they would stop by for a little something for the stomach's sake before going home to what for them was supper. The place was busiest in the evening, of course, and noisier.

One can get the news of the day, foreign, local and neighborhood as well as pick up odd bits of information and theories. As I came in an Irish tenor was singing "My Wild Irish Rose".

"Instant houses," the tall man was saying to the short man "that's what they got now. And it must be pretty good stuff. You got a station wagon?"

The short man shook his head no.

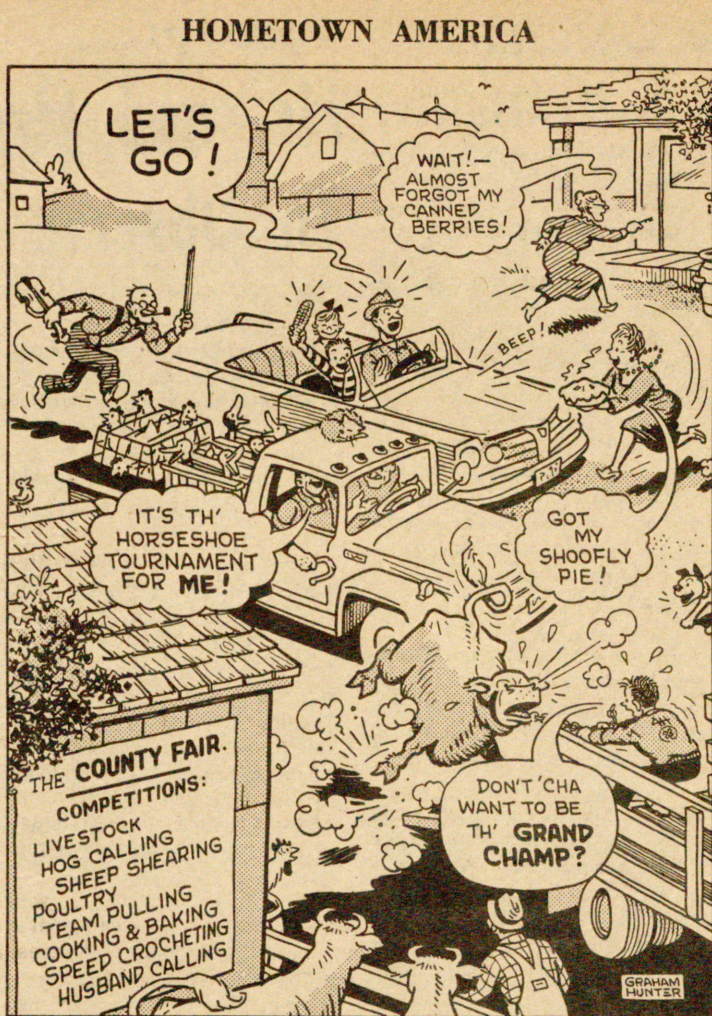

"Well," said the tall man, "if you had a station wagon you could have taken this instant house out in a bag in the back of the wagon. But if you don't have a station wagon you can get it in liquid form and I imagine carry it on a bicycle. With this liquid stuff, see, you get a plastic bag that you inflate. Then you spray it, see, and when the stuff hardens you let the air out of the bag and roll it up and you are all set to build another house. You can cut a doorway or windows with a saw or a knife. If you use the stuff when it is precast in slabs all you need is a wrench to put it together. It either takes two men to put up a 28 foot house or maybe it is 28 men to put up an eight foot house. I just don't remember."

The short man thought this over.

"Who carries the furnace and the water pipes and is there a garage?" he wanted to know.

"So I said to her," came a voice from further up the bar, "what do you think I'm made of, I says, when she asks me for 10 bucks for a dress, just what do you think I'm made of. And do you know what she says. . . don't tempt me, she says. . ."

Filters on one's ears would help in such a place -- sometimes it is difficult to screen out the static and keep conversation separated.

"You sure had 'em talking," the big guy next to me said to the big guy next to him, and there was admiration in his tone.

"Yeah?"

"Yeah. . . You know what somebody said about you?"

"No, what did they say?"

"Somebody said you sure were a wild one."

The man shrugged this one off, humbly and modestly.

"Who said that?" he demanded.

"I'm not going to tell you that. But that's what they said. . . sure a wild one."

"Why did they say that, d'you suppose?"

"I don't know," his companion said. "You know how people are. . . some little thing happens and they say things. I know you didn't mean to let that bowling ball go when you were whirling it around in the living room," he paused to take a long pull from his glass. "Jeepers, but that made a noise when it hit that fish aquarium, and there went the water and the fish and that gravel from the bottom of the tank." He sighed.

"Did you see your ladders?" someone was asking but he was having trouble in getting the message thru. The man to whom he was talking kept sliding down. Then his knees appeared to take the weight and he'd straighten up again. "Whose ladders?" he wanted to know. "Your ladders," the other explained. "I brought them back this morning, and put them in front of your garage door." . . . "What did you put in front of my garage doors?" "Your ladders." "My ladders?" . . . "Yeah, your ladders." The slider dipped and rose again. He thought for a moment. "What did they look like?" he demanded. "What did what look like?" "My ladders?" The other man began drawing a picture of a ladder on an envelope.

"Disgusting," a man said to me, motioning to the slider. "I can't see why anyone has to drink until he loses his senses."

I take a drink now and then but I know when to stop."

He tossed off a double bourbon, his fourth or fifth in the 40 minutes I had been there. Then he turned and swayed as he started to take a step.

"And now," he said quite clearly, "is the time to stop," and folded up on the floor like an old blanket.

The wild one had reached over the bar and picked up an orange. He was going to show how Early Wynn wound up. Whether he would have thrown the orange will never be decided. I suppose one could say that he committed a balk. Anyway he never made a delivery. Finnegan tapped him.

Hints For Homeowners

BY: JAMES FIZZELL, ASS'T. FARM ADVISER DUTCH ELM DISEASE CAN BE CONTROLLED

There is no cure for Dutch elm disease! Once infected, the tree is doomed. Claims made for various chemicals are based on incomplete observation, not on systematic and scientific evaluation. The search for a cure is being carried on throughout the country by Universities and experiment stations. Undoubtedly it is but a matter of time until the complete cure is found.

Meanwhile, it is becoming increasingly evident that the preventative control measures recommended by pathologists are saving most of the elms where the practices are used.

What are the measures being used successfully? According to Dr. Dan Neeley of the Illinois Natural History Survey, complete sanitation of both publicly and privately owned elms is a basic control procedure and is rigidly enforced in each city with a successful control program. Primarily this includes the prompt removal of diseased trees. Diseased trees located between June and August 1 are removed within 10 to 30 days following observation of Dutch elm disease symptoms. All diseased trees are removed before May 1 of the following year.

Sanitation also includes elimination and destruction of weak, dying and devitalized elm wood from healthy elm trees. Sanitation pruning of healthy elms is conducted in most of cities with successful programs.

Spraying the elms with an insecticide is recommended for all elms in the community but in Illinois, spraying has been practiced principally on publicly owned trees and those privately owned trees located adjacent to the parkway. DDT is the insecticide most commonly used and the mist blower is the usual means of application; a single application of insecticide during the dormant season is the spray used.

In Northern Illinois cities have had control programs for 5 or more years, annual losses from Dutch elm disease have been held at extremely low levels. Other cities where the programs have been in effect less than 5 years have shown similar results. Several cities, Clarendon Hills, Glenview, Kenilworth, Lincolnwood, Oak Park and Winnetka have kept losses at or below one-half of one percent per year. This is remarkable in view of the fact that in some cities from 7 to 30 percent of the unsprayed elms were lost in 1960 alone. And remember, in most cities with control programs, only publicly owned elms were sprayed. Many people in this area have heard of the tremendous losses down state, but feel it can never happen here. It is happening! After two or three years with losses as high as 30 percent, Northern Illinois cities will begin to look as barren as Champaign or Bloomington where only 6 to 8 percent of the elms remain. Look down your street and count 100 elms. Then imagine what it will look like if only six remained.

What can you and your community do to save the elms? The following eight steps have been designed by the National Shade Tree Council and the Illinois Natural History Survey to serve as a guide to individuals and communities.

1. Call the problem of Dutch elm disease to the attention of local municipal officials and civic organizations.
2. Arrange through civic organizations to hold a public meeting to acquaint the local public with the nature of the disease and the possibilities of its control.
3. Form an elm tree committee to work for a control program, including representatives from both civic and municipal organizations.
4. Obtain the professional services of a trained forester or experienced arborist to evaluate, design and supervise a control program. Such a consultant should have no commercial interest in the project on which he is retained as a consultant.
5. Survey the total elm population in the community to estimate the value of the trees to be protected and to estimate costs for suitable control.
6. Review all available information on results of the elm survey and on control of the disease in order to design a specific program suitable for your community.
7. Organize and promote a public education campaign on Dutch elm disease to be continued for the whole period for which control is necessary.
8. Design a program suitable to your community needs and resources, and present it to local municipal officials and the public for approval.

If these steps are followed now, you can be sure that in future years as you look down your street you will still be able to count 100 elms.

helped into a back room.

An Irish tenor began singing "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," and I left, in another five minutes there wouldn't be a dry eye in the place.

Countryside News And Views

WILLIAM F. WHITESIDE
COOK COUNTY FARM ADVISER

TINLEY PARK - 532-4369

A soil map, classifying your land according to its capability, is the first step in making a complete soil and water conservation plan for your farm. Develop a plan for the most profitable operation that holds soil and water losses to a minimum. Use the land capability map as a guide. Your district soil conservationist can help you decide crops, rotations, field layouts and soil and water conservation practices.

When heavy rains strike sloping land, your big problem is slowing runoff. Here's where a terrace system helps. Terraces shorten the slope, slow runoff and hold the water back. This lets the ground store more water. Excess water moves into grass waterways. Talk with your soil conservationist about terraces. You may qualify for ACP funds to help with the construction cost.

The first step in good pasture seeding is to test your soil. Then you'll know how much lime, limestone, phosphate and potash to use. You still have time to test before fall seeding.

Are you wondering whether your cattle could use some of that extra grass? Three years' work at the University of Illinois shows that steer calves will gain around 75 pounds per head on stubble between Aug. 15 and Nov. 1. It lowers the cost of feeder cattle and reduces shipping fever problems.

Young cows need more feed than older cows producing the same amount of milk. They need the extra feed for growth. Sometimes a well-fed Holstein heifer weighs 30 pounds more at second calving than she did when she first freshened.

Keeping grass is no problem when you follow three simple steps prescribed by University of Illinois turf grass specialists. You must (1) apply the proper amount of water, (2) add enough nitrogen fertilizer and (3) cut the grass at the right height.

One inch of water per week, as rainfall and applied water combined, is the most important factor. Simply, grass needs water to live. If moisture is lacking, grass will go into an ugly, dried-up stage of semi-dormancy.

One pound of nitrogen per 1000 square feet is needed on lawns during the summer. Either organic or inorganic nitrogen fertilizers may be used.

Turf grass should be allowed to grow approximately three inches high. It should then be cut no shorter than 1 1/2 inches high. The 1 1/2 inch mowing height is essential for maintaining high leaf-blade area and a dense foliage. A dense foliage will shade weeds and thereby help control them.

The Bingo club will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph Farnham of 9514 West Rosewood Lane on Thursday evening, Sept. 6, at 8:00 p.m.

The Summit Hill Boy Scout Troop will begin its new year with their monthly paper drive to be held on Saturday, Sept. 1. Anyone donating to this drive is asked to place all paper, cardboard, and etc. in bundles either at the front door or at the garage door, NOT at the curb, before nine Saturday morning.

The first regular weekly meeting of the new term will take place on Wednesday evening, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at the Scout House, (the old Summit Hill school house on 191st street).

There will be a Scout roundup held to recruit new members for the troop. All boys in the Blackhawk district, roughly speaking the Summit Hill school district, are eligible between the ages of 11 and 14. There are, at present, 27 scout members in the troop including some from Tinley Gardens and the farm area, as well as those from Arbury Hills.

The scoutmaster in charge of the troop is Dan Markowski from Arbury Hills. He is assisted in this work by Harold Thacker and James Suggs from Tinley Gardens.

Also during September's busy schedule for the Boy Scouts there will be a board of review to determine the eligibility of the scouts for advancement in rank due to the performance of specified skills and activities.

Following this board of review there will be a court of honor dinner at which the parents of the boys will be invited to attend to witness the awarding of the advancement recognitions to their respective offsprings.

Sandwiched in between all the other activities there will be a weiner roast for the present scouts and the new boys recruited for the troop.

There were three new members added to the scout planning committee. The men named were: Bud Markl, Walter Plumly, and Bill Watkins. Because of the resignation of Brian Williams as committee chairman, Bud Markl was named as the new committee chairman.

There will be an organizational meeting held in the near future in an attempt to form a Cub Scout group in the area for the boys too young for the boy scouts.

Because Mrs. Richard Boothe will be leaving for a week's vacation beginning September 12, anyone wishing baby sitters during the week September 12 to Sept. 19 can obtain one by contacting Mrs. Edward Hovi at Mokena 5740, during that week ONLY.

Mrs. Joseph Hulett of 19553 South Beechnut Drive had a Plaque Demonstration held at her home last Thursday evening. Those twenty-five women present had an interesting and enjoyable evening topped off by the refreshments served by Mrs. Hulett.

Open Drills; Look For Improved Season

Morale ran high during opening of grid drills last week at Lincoln-Way high school.

Reporting for equipment at the Knight's gear room were eight lettermen and a host of junior berth seekers, being counted on heavily this season to bolster an improved Southwest Suburban Conference aggregation.

Coach Jonas Lashmet sent his 31 reporting gridlers thru light workouts last Wednesday and Thursday, holding back heavier gear until Thursday afternoon. Lashmet reported the squad looked in good physical condition.

Knight's will begin checking timing on their basic T offensive formation shortly in preparation for the season curtain-raiser Sept. 15 on the home field against Lemont. Missing from the backfield this fall will be all-conference back Ron Yunker who carried the stellar role for the Knights last year.

Back, however, to engineer

Coach Lashmet's T-formation, together with the spit T, winged T and power series offensive maneuvers will be Kurt Fredin, senior quarterback. Fredin is slated to add deception to the Knight's play series. Although not the most adept passer or runner, the 155-pound Fredin provide Coach Lashmet with a sound punting toe, along with soph Tom Hamilton, 170-pound quarterback who will under-study Fredin.

Returning lettermen, in addition to Fredin, include 185-pound senior tackle Ron Sylvester, 180-pound junior tackle Joe Wajchert, 170-pound senior center Jim Wiegel and 175-pound senior guard Ron Badten who will be in his third year of varsity competition.

Also returning are lettermen Ken De Camp, 165-pound senior guard; Bob Hunter, 185-pound senior tackle; and Bill Wennlund, 160-pound senior defensive halfback.

Badten is being tabbed as the best prospect for all-conference honors as an outstanding linebacker.

Much is also being expected from tackle Joe Wajchert, a junior who is slated to see much action this season for the Knights.

Juniors being counted on by Coach Lashmet include Dave Howell, 165 junior center who is expected to push Jim Wiegel hard for the starting center berth.

Other third-year men on Coach Lashmet's potential list include Mike Delaney, 170-pound junior guard; Jim Nicholson, 170-pound junior guard who is being converted to an end; Mike Hart, 175-pound junior end; Rich Gretz, 165-pound junior tackle; and Ron Kokal, 160-pound junior back.

Van DeLay, 150-pound junior halfback, is sized up as having the potential of becoming an outstanding defensive linebacker in spite of his size.

Dale Mancke, 155-pound junior halfback; and Jim Hunniford, 150-pound junior halfback, are being groomed for supporting roles in the Knight's backfield.

Two sophs being shoved up from the sophomore ranks include 170-pound quarterback Tom Hamilton and 170-pound fullback Jeff Urban.

Randy Wheeler, 150-pound senior end, and Terry Weber, 160-pound senior guard will head an eager roster in fighting for line-up positions.

Assisting Lashmet with the two-a-day drills are Ray Page, varsity line coach; Everett Smith, newly added to the staff to handle varsity backfield duties after having served as assistant coach at Michigan State University; Ron Melene, Iowa State University grad who will handle the frosh-sophs; and Martin Mackay, returning from one year absence while taking graduate work at the University of Illinois.

Frosh coaching staff include Norm West and Gene McGivern.

met gave his charges a breather upon reporting, foregoing heavier football gear in view of high afternoon temperatures.

HANDOFFS from the basic T formation employed by Coach Jonas Lashmet's Lincoln-Way Knights underwent the critical eye of the coaching staff during opening day drills. Squad reported in for two-a-day grid practice sessions reportedly eager to get at competition in what is being tabbed as one of the better years for the Southwest Suburban conference entry.

Top Sports Car Drivers Enter Elkhart Lake Race

High-powered cars and high-calibre drivers will be on the starting grid for the Road America "500" at Elkhart Lake, Wis. 9, if the first batch of entries is any indication. Always "bigger and better" than the preceding year with the steadily-increasing stature of the event which is now recognized as the premier road race of the Sports Car Club of America calendar, this fall's 500-mile event for national championship points already is shaping up as another sports car spectacular. The course is located some 60 miles North of Milwaukee.

A former "500" champion Dave Causey of Carmel, Ind., teamed with Luke Stear to win the 1960 500-miler in a birdcage Maserati. This year, Causey will co-drive a hot Lotus 19 in the potent D-modified class with his brother Dean.

Their competition will come from such crack drivers as: Bob Donner of Colorado Springs and Don Sessler of Lancaster, Penn., in a Porsche RS-61 in the slightly-less-powered E-modified class.

Dick Thompson of Washington, D. C., and Grady Davis of Pittsburgh, Penn., driving a very fast C-modified Corvette packing a mammoth 5,360 cc. powerplant—undoubtedly one of the bigger engines which will be running that Sunday.

Slm Helson of Milford, Ohio, and Washington's Charles Kolb, two competent drivers who will be sharing the cockpit of a Maserati of 3,600 cc displacement in C-modified.

Ed Walsh of St. Louis and O. J. Klein of Springfield, Ill., in an E-modified Maserati.

The "500" will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 9, topping five Saturday races of from 40 to 80 miles which will get under way at 11:30 a.m.

Of all the many improvements to the course over the years, none will be so spectacular to spectators—or as helpful, perhaps, to car crews—as the 52 newly-erected covered pits along the straight. An imposing sight by the sheer length of their 848 feet, the covered pits are given additional impact by the vivid red, white, and blue color scheme which harmonizes with the general pit area.

There are no walls to the pits, thereby permitting spectators an unobstructed view of the vital crew activity.

Construction of the covered pits, following last year's erection of the unique cantilevered starter's platform and paddock area spectator overpass, and such improvements as this spring's new medical building and "paddock park", enhances the finished character of the Road America pit-and-paddock section of the course.

Open Annual Fall Festival Friday, Aug. 31

The Tinley Park annual Fall Festival is to be held Aug. 31 thru Sept. 3, the community's biggest event of the year. It is unique in that the whole town participates in its presentation thru membership in the Recreation Commission which sponsors the gala 3-day affair.

Held annually over the Labor Day weekend, it draws many visitors to Tinley Park where they enjoy the carnival rides, side booths, entertainment, refreshments, and the displays in the large exhibition tent.

This year there are added attractions, adding to the fun of the holiday event which draws thousands of people to the carnival grounds on 171st st., east of the Bert Fulton school.

The festival grounds will buzz with excitement when it opens at 7 p.m. on Friday Aug. 31, heralded by the dropping of 750 ping pong balls from a helicopter overhead. These stamped balls are redeemable for free carnival rides when turned in on Friday night.

While the children are enjoying the thrill of the rides, the adults will visit the many booths stocked with valuable prizes to be won in games of chance and skill, visiting the exhibition tent and stopping at the refreshment stand.

One of the featured attractions each year is the beauty contest, when a queen is chosen by the judges to reign over the festival and the two runners-up serve as her court.

The preliminary judging of this contest will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday; the semi-final judging at 7:30 p.m. Saturday; and the exciting finals at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

There will be a thrilling wrestling match on Saturday night between the famous and popular Billy Goetz and Gypsy Joe, the world's light-heavyweight champion.

A balloon act being performed by a professional team will amuse the children and fascinate adults on Sunday. The balloons which they will form into interesting figures will be given away.

On Sunday, between 2 and 4 p.m., free candy, toys and trinkets will be given to the children on the grounds.

An amusing watermelon eating contest for youngsters will be held between 4 and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Besides the professional entertainment, local talent will perform during the festival.

The big parade which starts at 2 p.m. Monday, Labor Day, draws large crowds which line the route of the parade to the festival grounds. There will be marching bands, veterans marching units, baton twirlers, and decorated floats.

The following chairmen are handling various phases of the program: Mrs. John Machala, beauty contest; Archie Albert, merchandise; Jack Dunn, entertainment; Robert Raines, booth assignment; Harold Coley, advertisement; Ed Duffy, refreshment booth; Joseph McCarthy, parade, with Everett Earley and Gene Holmes as co-chairmen; Henry J. PRESENT FORMER FESTIVAL QUEENS

What has happened to previous fall festival queens? To find out we contacted the four beauties who reigned over the 1958, 1959, 1960 and 1961 events, chosen by the judges as the fairest of them all. All are married and one is the mother of three children.

Miss Sandra Casey, the first queen chosen when the beauty contest was initiated in conjunction with the festival in 1958, is the most recent bride.

She wed John B. Graham Jr. of Virginia on Saturday, Aug. 18, 1962 and her home is now in Texas.

Sandy was a beautiful bride. The church ceremony was held in the local Zion Lutheran church.

Her husband, whom she met when on a Florida vacation, is employed by the National Aeronautics Space Administration.

Sandy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Casey, 6738 Tinley Park drive, and granddaughter of Selby Hirsch, who until his death last year was always interested in sports. Mr. Hirsch was one of the founders of the Recreation Commission.

Like her grandfather, sports has been a major part of Sandy's life. She graduated in June from Northern Illinois University with a degree in physical education. She served as a lifeguard this summer at the Lions aqua center and was on the cheerleading teams during high school and college years. She is a graduate of Tinley Park public school and Bremen High school.

1959 QUEEN

Mrs. Robert Waitekus was Miss Phyllis Cannon when she won the 1959 beauty contest. The year before she had been chosen Miss Tombale by the Roseland Operetta club and Miss Irish of Chicago. She was also a runner-up in other beauty contests, serving in the court of the queen chosen for the Venetian Night Festival, sponsored by the Chicago Yacht club, and a runner up in Miss Photo Flash contest.

Phyllis did some modeling during these days, also television commercials, and appeared on the television show, International Cafe.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cannon, 18002 Sayre ave., Tinley Park, and attended (Continued on Page 4)

The Tinley Park Archery club is setting up an archery booth at the fall festival. This requires a great deal of work as a great many bales of hay are necessary to back up the targets.

This year the club may set up the archery range at the back end of a trailer. The sides will have to be padded to keep the arrows within the close confines of the area.

Young and old will have a chance to try their skill at the oldest of all sports.

Acting chairmen of this activity are Orlie Buck and William Rapson.

Balloon Artists Will Perform Sunday Night

International balloon artists will perform at the Tinley Park Fall Festival on Sunday night. They are the team of John Shirley and Bonnie.

Their act was one of the outstanding variety acts selected by Ed Sullivan and approved by the Department of State, to represent the United States in Moscow and Leningrad, Russia, during the recent Moscow Trades Fair.

Their "Balloon Barrage" almost caused a riot on the opening show.

They form the balloons into interesting and amusing figures, which are distributed free to the viewers.

Recreational Needs Met By Forming Commission In 1944

Back in 1944, leading citizens of Tinley Park were concerned about the lack of recreational facilities in the village, particularly for the young. Discussions led to the forming of the Recreation Commission.

The first step in the program was to raise money for the purchase of land on which was established Memorial park.

The initial down payment of $500 was raised by the Commission from a series of fund-raising activities, which included a series of bunco parties, dances and amateur shows.

The Commission next held a carnival in October of 1945 to raise the additional amount required for the land purchase. The carnival netted a profit of $2,800. To raise the additional money needed a fund campaign was held, and an amount of $2,290 collected.

The negotiations for the purchase of the park property were conducted by Henry J. Bettenhausen with the owner, Edward Schmitt.

In April of 1946 two additional lots were purchased from Walter Bruning for $800 and paid for in full by October, 1947.

The establishment of a playground and the building of a baseball diamond started the Recreation Commission on a program which is still being conducted — providing recreational facilities for residents. This program has been enlarged to include many other civic projects.

A strong supporter of the program was Walter Fierke, superintendent of schools, he was temporary chairman of the Commission when it was being formed. He was later elected the first president. Other officers elected were: Raymond Jacobs, 1st vice president; Henry J. Bettenhausen, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Walter Eichelberg, secretary; and William Kopp, treasurer.

Organization representatives present when the recreation commission was launched and the organizations they represented were: Walter Mager, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Mrs. Raymond Jacobs, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. R. L. Bacon, Woman's Benevolent Association; Douglas Aden, Youth group; Mrs. Henry Clark, Parent-Teacher Association; William Kopp, Catholic Men's club; Noble Terrell, Methodist Men's club; Mrs. William Kopp, Home Bureau; Henry Wolfe, Civic club; Raymond Jacobs, village board; Henry Bettenhausen, Tinley Park Business Men's association; Mrs. Eichelberg, Woman's club; George Denner, social club; and Supt. Fierke, the schools.

In 1948, when Mrs. Brown Campbell was president of the commission, the fall festival idea was inaugurated as a means of providing the organization with funds to carry on its work.

Past presidents of the commission are: Walter Fierke, Walter Goebel, Mrs. Campbell, Henry Boldt, Selby Hirsch, Raymond Jacobs, Henry Nolte, William Whetter Jr., Richard Nebel, George Klauss, Mike Haber, and William Zimmerman. Now heading the organization as president is Robert Raines.

Recreation Commission Gets Charter In 1944

The Tinley Park Recreation Commission has been in existence since 1944. Incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois, it is composed of delegates from every civic organization in the village.

The committee in charge of the annual Fall Festival which the organization sponsors each year over the Labor Day weekend, plan this event thruout the year and in the two months prior to the festival, hold weekly meetings to make the final planning.

The Commission is responsible for 17 such very successful holiday festivals, which was first originated as a carnival.

The event has grown thru the years in ratio to the growth of the town and many of its members have been active participants since the first such event was held.

This is the one way in which the Recreation Commission, formed to provide the town with recreational facilities, has been able to finance sport programs for young and not so young, providing facilities and equipment.

Other civic enterprises have been financially aided by the Commission, one of which is the public library where financial assistance from the organization was a big boost toward its establishment.

Tinley Park has many youth organizations which have benefited from financial aid.

The Boy Scout troops have been able to attend camping sessions with up-to-date camping equipment, purchased thru the Recreation Commission's help.

Much of the money raised thru the annual fall festival has been used to form baseball teams for youngsters, to provide equipment and uniforms.

The fathers of the young players have benefited thru aid in forming softball teams. The local churches have sponsored summer and fall leagues of softball and basketball teams. They too have been aided and supported by the Recreation Commission.

Part of the funds raised thru the annual festival have also been used to provide holiday parties for all of the children in the community.

VOLUNTEERS ALL

All of the members serve on a voluntary basis, giving much of their time to plan and serve at the festival and attend the meetings of the Commission held the fourth Wednesday of each month.

The various booths and side shows at the festival are operated under rules set down by the Commission.
